

Matthew E. Garling

Matthew Garling is the Internal Audit Director for Global Brass & Copper, Inc. (NYSE: BRSS).

Matt began his career with Arthur Andersen's external audit practice, and transferred to the Internal Audit/Risk Consulting practice four years later. He continued his internal audit work with Protiviti, serving clients in special projects, investigations, and internal audit before moving into industry. Matt joined Lawson Products to lead in the transformation of their internal audit department, and later moved to SunCoke Energy shortly after their divestiture from Sunoco to build and lead SunCoke's internal audit department.

Matt is an NIU Alum and Certified Public Accountant, as well as a Certified Internal Auditor and Certified Management Accountant. He has served Board terms on the Institute of Internal Auditors Board (Chicago Chapter), as well as on the Finance Committee of his local church.

Matt resides in West Chicago with his wife and three children. In 'spare' moments, Matt enjoys camping and outdoor activities in all seasons.
